Conservation is the order of the day

• Waterfall Survivors Malaysia will organise a campaign to save the waterfalls on Sunday from 7am to 3.30pm at the Sungai Tua Recreational Park at the Selangor state park. The event, which is endorsed and supported by the Ministry of Tourism Malaysia under their new campaign — 1 Malaysia Green, 1 Malaysia Clean — aims for 1,000 participants to create a historical moment for Waterfall Survivors at Sungai Tua Recreational Park. For more information, visit http://waterfallsurvivors.blogspot.com.

• In conjunction with Earth Day, parents of diaper-wearing toddlers can participate in the Great Cloth Diaper Change 2011 event, which will set a world record for the most cloth diapers ever changed simultaneously. The event on Saturday, will be held at Wisma Bling Lustre, Taman Meranti Jaya, Puchong, Selangor, in a bid to inspire others to use modern reusable cloth diapers. For more information, visit http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=140629236002099.

• Forest Research Institute Malaysia (FRIM) is holding a public exhibition showcasing the winning entries and shortlisted top 100 pictures from its Photography Competition 2011 themed "RIM Tapak Warisan Semulajadi" which was held from January to February. The exhibition, held from April 22 to 24 in conjunction with the International Year of Forests 2011 and Earth Day, will be displayed at its auditorium foyer at FRIM, Kepong. There will also be a cheque presentation of RM60,000 from the Malaysian Institute of Accountants (MIA) to FRIM for tree planting, donated by the participants of the 8th World Congress of Accountants (WCOA) 2010 to offset carbon emission through the FRIM-MyCEB green initiative.

Preserving the pristine nature of our waterfalls is vital to protect our natural resources.