5

Perdana Botanical Gardens, Kuala Lumpur

Better known as just Lake Gardens, Perdana Botanical Gardens, is a perennial favourite. One of the oldest parks in the city, established in the 1880s, its sculpted and manicured gardens offer a welcome retreat amid the hustle and bustle of the city.

4

Sultan Abdul Samad building, Kuala Lumpur

The Sultan Abdul Samad building is the perfect location for history buffs and architecture lovers, being a pre-colonial building built in the late 19th century. With a 41m clocktower, its Moorish appearance combined with British architecture reflects the rich cultural heritage of Malaysia. The building overlooks the historical Dataran Merdeka, where the country's independence was declared.

6

FRIM - Forest Research Institute Malaysia

Also known as the Kepong Botanical Gardens, this is another popular nature-themed site for a bridal portrait. The gardens are living plant collections and a showcase of botany, horticulture and landscaping. Its scenic ponds, waterfalls and quaint gazebos make a lush, green backdrop.

7

Kuala Lumpur Railway Station, Kuala Lumpur

Another historical building on the list, this railway station has stood the test of time for over 100 years. It was the city's hub for Keretapi Tanah Melayu Berhad. The station's mix of Eastern and Western designs is a huge draw.

8

Titiwangsa Lake Gardens

It is a popular recreational park in the heart of the city and a favourite spot for dating couples. Activities such as boating on the lake is an option for newlyweds looking for more romantic moments.

9

Sekinchan

A small fishing and agricultural village, Sekinchan is well-known for its rolling fields of padi. The flat landscape and seemingly endless blue skies on a clear day are the ingredients for a beautiful picture. As the photographers rely on the season of the padi, wedding photo shoots here are seasonal but remains a top choice for many newlyweds.

10

Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM)

One would think that a university would be the last place to have a photoshoot, but UPM is a popular place for couples, thanks to its sprawling fields. One popular scenery is the field surrounded by white picket fences.
